Mansfield won't call for resignation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield refused today to join a number of congressional Democrats calling for President Nixon's resignation.

"I don't think he should resign," Mansfield said. The question of presidential resignation "is a matter he has to make a decision on himself," Mansfield said.

He urged his colleagues to keep an open mind on impeachment in event the House should vote to impeach and Nixon is tried by the Senate.

In other developments related to Watergate and the impeachment investigation by the House:

—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said if it was shown that Nixon was responsible for the 18-½ minute gap in one of his Watergate tape recordings, that would be an impeachable offense. He made the statement in an interview with syndicated columnist Louis M. Kohlmeier.

—Mansfield said he felt the Watergate committee would continue public hearings until all avenues were exhausted. But one member of the committee, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., said that to do so without major reason would "cheapen" its past work.

—AFL-CIO President George Meany said the labor organization feels Nixon has "really failed the country" and that "he's got to be impeached."

—Nixon's domestic affairs adviser, Kenneth Cole, said in Houston that the President believes in himself and his programs and anyone who does so is "not going to resign."

—Nixon's youngest daughter, Julie Eisenhower, said if her father had been involved in Watergate and had lied about it, "he should resign," but she declared that "he was not involved."

Senate investigation

Oil firms admit profits up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Executives of the nation's seven biggest major oil companies told a Senate subcommittee today that their profits increased substantially last year but that they reaped no bonanza.

Members of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee grilled the executives for the second straight day, questioning high profits of fuel giants in light of the energy crisis.

"There is no use kidding ourselves where your profits are," said the subcommittee chairman, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. "Quit going around the mulberry bush."

The hearing —one of several congressional forums on the crisis —was conducted as the Labor Department announced that the price of fuel oil and coal rose 44.7 per cent in 1973. It went up 11.1 per cent in December alone.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said price increases for gasoline, heating oil, electricity, natural gas, coal and other energy items accounted for more than one-third of an overall 0.7 per cent rise in the American's cost of living in December. An early-December survey by the government —prior to sharp increases later in the month —showed the cost of gasoline at service stations had risen 4.4 per cent over November. For 1973 as a whole, gasoline and motor oil went up 18.6 per cent.

Shell Oil Co. president, Harry Bridges, told the Senate hearings that its members had been unfairly comparing 1973 oil profits with "a very low 1972 performance. Looking over several years," he said, "there is no bonanza in these profits whatsoever."

Other Senate committees took up questions such as natural gas regulation, whether there should be a windfall profits tax on oil producers, the effect of the crisis on the poor and the safety of nuclear reactors, while two House hearings looked into how much oil and gas is held in reserve on public lands and a proposal for increased offshore port facilities for unloading big oil tankers.

At the same time Jackson said he would introduce today a cloture petition to cut off debate on the big energy bill Congress left pending when it adjourned the first session on Dec. 22.

The Washington Democrat's petition, which needs a two-thirds majority for approval, is expected to come in a vote Thursday.

Nixon not considering resigning

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is not considering resigning and has every intention of serving out his remaining three years in office, a White House spokesman said today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon "knows he has not been involved in any wrongdoing" in Watergate and therefore is "not entertaining at all" any suggestions of resigning.

Ziegler also said Nixon is convinced that an 18 ½-minute erasure on a White House tape of one of the President's Watergate conversation was not a deliberate act.

"We do not know how it happened," Ziegler told reporters. "The President does not know how it happened. If we did, we would say so."

Ziegler's rare White House news conference —he has been concentrating on his new role of presidential assistant —came in the middle of increasing calls for the President's resignation. House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said Monday he should resign in the "best interest of the nation." Some others such as Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said resignation would be better than impeachment by the House.

NOTHING TO LAUGH about, William Pearson's 1966 King Midget gets 50 miles to the gallon. It also comes equipped with nearly all the features of the big automobiles.

Little car making Jim, er— Bill, a big man in Lompoc

BY STAN TULLEDO
Feature Editor

So you feel insignificant in this big world. Your barber calls you Larry and your name is Fred.

Women never ask if you're married. The paperboy keeps forgetting your house.

Well, William Pearson, 441 Terra Way, stands free of such anxieties since he purchased an uncommon car four months ago.

Now strangers roll down their windows at stop lights to talk to him. He comes out of grocery stores and several people are waiting. His barber knows his name.

Maybe you noticed that sharp little Porsche running around Lompoc? Pearson was not sitting at the wheel. He owns a 1966 Midget King, which has been the cause of his newfound popularity.

"It's a traffic stopper," he admits.

Looking more like a glorified go-cart, the red and white convertible Midget turns heads. It weighs 650 lbs. and measures slightly longer than the hood of Pearson's 1971 Plymouth Fury.

A two-seater, two-bumper vehicle, the Midget is not a cheap imitation of a large automobile scaled down — it is a complete little car, claims the makers, Midget Motors Corp. of Athens, Ohio.

Indeed, the Midget comes equipped with a two-speed automatic transmission; hydraulic four wheel brakes; a 10-horse power Wisconsin four-cycle, single cylinder air-cooled engine; an electric starter; a three-gallon tank; and eight inch tires.

The engine holds all of one pint of oil (30 weight).

"The license plate is almost as big as the car," Pearson enjoys noting.

King Midgets are humorously small in all ways but one: they're known to get 70 to 80 miles per gallon under ideal driving conditions. And in these gas shortage times the laugh is on General Motors.

Pearson bought his Midget four months ago for $175 from a local man as "a joke to play with." It sat in a backyard for the last four years, protected only by a tarpaulin.

The man had had it hauled to California in the back of a moving truck from Ohio, where Midgets are commonly seen.

Pearson estimates his Midget gets at least 50 miles to the gallon around Lompoc. However, he is reluctant to take it on the highway, feeling the Midget motor's too slow and looks too conspicuous to compete with fast and heavy traffic.

"One of these days," he jested, "I may get brave and drive it to Santa Maria."

The speedometer reads 0 to 60.

Man threatens to sue county for filing fee

The Santa Barbara County clerk's office Monday took in stride a threat by a disqualified Congressional candidate to file suit to recover a $425 filing fee.

Retired Air Force Officer Herbert A. Ford notified county clerk Howard C. Menzel of contemplated court action after the clerk's office refused to qualify Ford's nomination papers on the grounds he had only 25 valid voters' signatures instead of a required minimum of 40.

Ford claimed the clerk's office hadn't provided him with adequate information at deadline time Friday when he brought in his papers which hadn't been completely filled out. But a spokesman for the clerk's office said Ford had been given "more information and help than any other candidate."

Ford's disqualification meant that state Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, R., Ojai, will be the only Republican on the ballot for the special primary election March 5 for the unexpired term of the late Rep. Charles Teague in the 13th Congressional District.

Lagomarsino had filed and qualified in the Ventura County courthouse, with his agent, J. J. Hollister, Santa Barbara attorney, filing a supplemental list of Santa Barbara County signatures in the Santa Barbara County clerk's office.

Three Democrats from Santa Barbara County and five Democrats from Ventura County will vie with Lagomarsino March 5 for the one-year unexpired term.

Two other Democrats had failed to qualify after filing nomination papers. They were Mark (Max) Siler, Jr., Carpinteria electronics engineer, and George H. Margos, Simi Valley man.

Ford had come in with 70 signatures of voters, the clerk's office said, or 10 more than the maximum. He was required to take off the surplus number to achieve 60 or less.

County officials said Ford came out with only 25 valid signatures, 15 under the minimum. There were reports that some of them were signatures of persons listed as Democrats.

Ford had rushed into Menzel's office seven minutes before the 5 p.m. deadline, and onlookers there recalled he was given a typewriter and went back and forth across the office asking questions about filling in of the various papers until long after the deadline passed. His nomination papers failed to win qualification after being processed at the county election office.

Qualifying for the special primary ballot for Congress are the following from Santa Barbara County:

Dr. Roger A. Ikola, Santa Maria physician; R. W. Handley, Santa Maria teacher; F. Joe DeauChamp, Carpinteria businessman; all Democrats.

Ventura County:

State Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino, Republican, of Ventura; David H. Miller, Ventura teacher; James D. Loebl, Ojai attorney and city councilman; James A. Browning Jr., Oxnard attorney; and E. T. Jolicoeur, Camarillo businessman, all Democrats.

Brazelton to run for Assembly

Santa Barbara attorney Osborne T. Brazelton, 34, has announced he will oppose J. Tim Terry, 40, Santa Barbara insurance executive, for the Republican nomination in the 36th Assembly district.

Brazelton is a close friend of Second District Supervisor Charles F. Catterlin, also a Santa Barbara attorney, who is reportedly considering entering the field for the state Senate seat from the Santa Barbara-Ventura district if Sen. Robert J. Lagomarsino is successful in capturing the congressional post left vacant by the New Year's Day death of Rep. Charles Teague.

The initial Democrat to announce for the Assembly seat reportedly being vacated by Assemblyman W. Don MacGillivray is Gary Hart, Santa Barbara teacher. MacGillivray may wind up contesting for the Senate Republican nomination with Catterlin.

Brazelton is chairman of both the county Assessment Appeals Board and the county Air Pollution Control District board of appeals. He has resided in Santa Barbara since 1964, after obtaining a law degree that year from the University of California. He is a graduate of San Diego State College.

Supervisors continue oil ordinance hearing

The Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors Monday continued a public hearing on a proposed new county oil ordinance until April 23 at 9:30 a.m. and meanwhile scheduled a work session Feb. 6 with the oil code committee and other county authorities preparatory to drawing up an explicit ordinance.

The board had discussed the proposed basic ordinance with a number of alternatives proposed by conservationists for more than four hours before continuing the matter. Oil industry representatives strongly opposed the alternatives which the environmentalists argued were needed as controls for public benefit.

In another action Monday, the supervisors granted the appeal of Santa Ynez realtor Tom Bohlinger from a county building department denial of a building permit to double the size of the Bohlinger commercial building 3358 Sagunto St., Santa Ynez, despite a recently authorized building moratorium in the town.

The board agreed with Bohlinger that relocation of a septic tank and dry well to make room for the new addition would not add to sewage problems in the town area.

Golda Meir explains signing

United Press International

Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir said today her government signed a troop withdrawal agreement with Egypt because the only alternative was a new Middle East war. Libya said the Soviet Union suspended Syrian arms shipments to force Damascus to negotiate with Israel.

Mrs. Meir addressed Israel's Parliament to explain her government's reasons for signing the troop disengagement pact, which requires Israel to withdraw about 13 miles into the Sinai Desert from the Suez Canal.

"We signed the agreement with the object of advancing toward a permanent peace settlement and, above all, in order to prevent escalation into a renewal of the war," she said in a prepared statement.

Mrs. Meir said there had been no progress with Syria on disengaging forces along the northern front or the release of the list of Israeli prisoners of war despite talks in Damascus by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

The semi-official Libyan newspaper Al Fajr al Jadid said Monday that the Soviet Union has cut off military shipments to Damascus "to force Syria to yield to the pressure and join in the direct negotiations"

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar said the article was written by Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy after talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Beef prices climbing back to record highs

United Press International

Loblaws Supermarket in Buffalo, N.Y., is selling ground beef at 89 cents a pound—20 cents higher than it was a couple of months ago.

Rib steaks prices have gone up as much as 30 cents a pound —from 89 cents to $1.19—in one Phoenix, Ariz., market.

And many cuts have jumped 20 cents in Southern California stores.

There's no evidence of a meat shortage but in case you haven't noticed, a spot check by UPI showed beef prices have been climbing back to last year's peak in many parts of the country.

With meat industry sources predicting an average 33 per cent hike due to spiraling wholesale prices in the past two months, indications were that prices would go even higher.

"For two months, pressure from the rising wholesale prices has been building," Nathan Herschberg, a marketing expert of the New York State Agriculture and Markets Department, said.

"But the lid at retail held fairly tight. Now the wholesale pressure has shot out with the rises on all the beef cuts we quote," he said.

Among the prices quoted by Herschberg were increases of 6 to 10 cents a pound for hamburger meat in most stores, round roast up 10 cents and a dime added by some markets to porterhouse, sirloin, round and chuck steak prices.

Wegman's, a 31-store outlet based in Rochester, N.Y., cited prices that were generally 10 cents higher than the level at which they were frozen by the federal government last year following nation-wide boycotts and protests.

In Los Angeles, beef prices were up anywhere from 7 to 20 cents a pound, but most stores reported sales have remained steady.

From the 99 cents per pound hamburger meat that some consumers enjoyed following the beef shortage, North Carolina butchers are being forced to charge as much as $1.29 because of higher wholesale costs.

Hijacked airliner flown to Cuba

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — A young man armed with a carbine hijacked a Colombian airliner carrying a group of American Jehovah's Witness missionaries Monday and forced the pilot to fly to Cuba.

Colombian aviation officials said the Aeropesca prop-jet landed in Cuba just before midnight, but authorities at Havana's Jose Marti international airport refused to give details by telephone.

Colombian police said the hijacker commandeered the plane, carrying 45 passengers and five crew members, during a flight from Pasto in southwestern Colombia to Bogota.

Airline authorities said the passengers included four U.S. missionaries and their wives on the way to a Jehovah's Witness convention in Bogota. The missionaries had been living in Pasto.

The four couples were identified as David and Sonia Burgos, Riley and Janelle Morris, David and Dana Millan, and Lawrence Sorrels, whose Colombian wife was not named. Authorities said Burgos was from New York, but they had no U.S. addresses for the others.

Police said the hijacker, identified as Jorge Raimundo Tapia, 23, who had recently been fired from a job with an oil company, smuggled the carbine aboard the plane in a towel.

The hijacker forced the pilot to first land at Cali in western Colombia for a refueling stop. In Cali, he let all 23 women and children off, including the wives of the four missionaries.

Britain now hit by strike threat from coal miners

LONDON (UPI) — The leader of Britain's 269,000 coal miners threatened today to hit the country's already badly shaken economy with a crippling mine shutdown.

"I am sure we shall get an overwhelming ballot in favor of an all-out strike," National Union of Mineworkers President Joe Gormley said.

The miners have been on a production slowdown since Nov. 12 to press demands for higher pay.

Combined with the Arab oil cutback to the West and an overtime ban by 29,000 railroad engineers, the mine slowdown sparked what Prime Minister Edward Heath has termed Britain's gravest crisis since World War II and forced the government to put industry on a three-day week.

The government said Monday it may soon relax the three-day week and permit a four-day or even a limited five-day week again as fuel stocks are larger than expected.

Nixon convinced erasure accidental

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is convinced that the 18 ½-minute erasure of a presidential tape recording pertaining to Watergate was not done deliberately, his chief spokesman said today.

Ronald L. Ziegler, presidential assistant and press secretary, said Nixon was puzzled as everybody else how the segment of his June 20, 1972, conversation with H. R. Haldeman, then his chief of staff, was obliterated.

The tape of the conversation, held three days after the Watergate break-in, was subpoenaed by the Watergate special prosecutor for presentation to the grand jury.

"The President does not feel it was erased deliberately," Ziegler told reporters. "We do not know how it happened, the President does not know how it happened. If we did, we would say so."

YF16 flight not planned

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The YF16 fighter plane has made its maiden flight. The trouble is, it wasn't supposed to, according to the Air Force. The Air Force said Monday that General Dynamics test pilot Philip Oestricher took the plane out for a high speed taxi test Sunday, and had to take off due to a mishap. He gained altitude, circled and landed, remaining aloft for six minutes.

The Air Force did not explain the incident in detail.

HUD drops ceiling on mortgages to 8.25 per cent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) dropped the ceiling on federally insured home mortgages from 8.5 per cent to 8.25 per cent effective today, and released $6.6 billion to stimulate new home construction this spring.

HUD Secretary James T. Lynn announced the changes in FHA and VA ceilings and the $6.6 billion program Monday at the National Association of Home Builders convention in Houston.

Industry sources said Lynn had been "stung" by builders' complaints he was not exerting leadership.

Status report due on hospital

Directors of Lompoc Hospital District Thursday will hear a status report on efforts to build a convalescent hospital at Walnut Avenue and Third Street and expanded facilities at the acute care hospital on Hickory Avenue.

Voters have approved a bond issue for the construction and state health agencies have approved the concepts. Final approval on details of the construction plans is awaited, according to Kenneth Wicks, hospital administrator.

Also on tap Thursday will be a report on the joint commission survey for accreditation which was completed last week. Final word on the results of the survey will not come for some time, according to Wicks. The accreditation, once a matter of prestige, now has become essential if a hospital hopes to qualify for federal medical assistance programs, Wicks said.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the hospital on Hickory Avenue.

'Bloc' stands firm in money crisis

'Mental cases may be work of devil'

NEW YORK (UPI) — The devil is real, says the Rev. Karl Patzelt, who claims to have driven him out of a California household. The exorcist said many mental cases may actually be the fault of demonic possession.

"It is important to bring clarity to these things so that persons affected know that there is a solution," he told reporters Monday. "There are more (persons possessed) than we think and many of those in mental institutions do not belong there—they belong in the hands of a priest."

Father Patzelt, pastor of Our Lady of Fatima Church in San Francisco, said there was no question that the devil had taken possession of a young couple in Daly City, Calif., last August.

There were mysterious fires in the home, he said, and objects as big as chairs were moved when no one was near. He said he had to perform the rites of exorcism 14 times before a great wave of heat hit the room and the household returned to normal.

In a report on the case that was released in San Francisco, Patzelt said "the devil revealed himself each time during the service by knocking both husband and wife down, often to the point of unconsciousness, choking them, twisting their arms behind their back.

"...Only the touch of the relic of the Holy Cross brought immediate relief, or brought them back to consciousness."

The San Francisco Chronicle today said Father Patzelt spent much of last Friday with a San Jose, Calif., family, and quoted him as saying, "I've seen some interesting things there, but I'm still only investigating this case."

He declined to give other details, the Chronicle said.

New storm moving east from Colorado

United Press International

Travelers advisories for snow were posted today from the Central Plains to northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin as a storm which dumped five inches of new snow on Colorado Monday began moving east.

Heavy snow warnings remained in effect for the mountains and northeast Colorado today. A band of freezing rain divided the northern snow, extending east from Kansas through much of the Ohio Valley.

Meanwhile, fog caused problems for morning drivers in the Tampa, Fla., area and southwest Louisiana. Travelers advisories were issued early today for those areas.

The snow storm Monday piled deep snows in the Rocky Mountain West and West-Central Plains. Up to foot of snow fell in Utah, and nine inches fell at Harrison in northwest Nebraska.

The snow storm forced a plane with six persons aboard down in the rugged mountains of southwestern Utah Sunday night and prevented air crews from conducting a search Monday. Snowmobiles and four-wheel-drive vehicles made a ground search, and later a helicopter was able to join the search, but the plane was not discovered.

Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus Monday asked President Nixon for disaster designation for northern Idaho following a weekend survey of the flood-ravaged area. Andrus estimated damage in excess of $50 million and said some 10,000 persons had been displaced by the floods, spawned by warm temperatures and melting snow.

Residents began returning home Monday in the two areas hardest hit by rampaging waters.

Two rain-swollen creeks flooded homes in southeast Texas Monday, covering three farm-to-market roads with water. The National Weather Service said rain in the Panhandle might change to snow today.

Chicagoans today prepared for a mixed bag of tricks as the National Weather Service predicted snow or freezing rain and strong winds.

Locations listed to buy dog licenses

Dog owners can buy 1974 licenses at the following locations:

—County Animal Shelter, V Street and Central Avenue, Lompoc.

—County Clerk's Office, County Building, 401 E. Cypress Ave., Lompoc.

—County Health Department, Veterans Memorial Building, H Street and Locust Avenue, Lompoc.

—County Clerk's Office, Veterans Memorial Building, 1745 Mission Dr., Solvang.

Dog licenses are $4. By state law, neutered or spayed dogs are licensed $2, upon presentation of a certificate from a veterinarian.

Rabies clinics will be conducted on the following dates and places in conjunction with the Mid-Coast Veterinarians Association and 4-H Clubs. Shots are $2.50.

—Feb. 16 at Veterans Memorial Buildings in the following locations and hours: Solvang, 2 to 4 p.m.; Lompoc, 1 to 4 p.m.; Santa Maria, 1 to 4 p.m.; and Guadalupe (City Hall), 1 to 3 p.m.

—Feb. 23 at the following locations and hours: Orcutt, Nightengale School, 1 to 4 p.m.; Cuyama County Building, 1 to 2 p.m.; and Los Alamos Elementary School, 1 to 2 p.m.

Dog owners must have proof that their animals received a valid rabies shot after July 1, 1972.

Power costs up, not down

Santa Barbara County officials felt that recent measures to cut down on energy costs in the county building and elsewhere would show up in a lower electricity bill were shocked Friday to find their December charges were some $2,000 higher than those of December, 1972.

Like the Goleta Valley resident who began using less water due to an impending water scarcity in the valley and then found his bill just as high as before, the county has been frustrated in attempting to show a gain in its use of Southern California Edison Co. power

Edison officials who were contacted to explain the higher county bill for electricity said it was simply because higher rates were put into effect in the past year.

The county actually did use much less total power use in county buildings last month than December, 1972, according to county public works director Norman H. Caldwell.

County supervisors thought they were not only helping with the energy crisis but also lowering the county's power bills when they authorized lowering the thermostats in county buildings, cutting off hot water in lavatories, and even their own fountain on the fourth floor of the County Building.

Edison Co. representatives explained why they have had to increase their rates to big customers like the county. They said they are paying more for oil and that was why the county's costs were higher.

Senate approves bill making key changes in marijuana, sex laws

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation changing key laws on marijuana and sexual behavior while making passive revisions in the state's criminal code has passed the Senate.

The measure (SB39) by Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, was sent to the Assembly Monday on a 23-11 vote.

Grunsky insisted his 205-page bill was designed only to rewrite the entire complex code to make it easier to read. Such a revision has never been accomplished since the code was created in 1872.

But Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, argued bill at the same time would strip judges of the current option of reducing a felony charge for marijuana possession to a misdemeanor.

Under the bill, if a person was charged with a felony he could only be convicted as a felon or released, Moscone noted. The same procedure would be followed for those charged with a misdemeanor.

The bill also would legalize "deviant sexual behavior" between persons of the same sex. Currently, such behavior is illegal in any form.

Impact report on Santa Ynez property filed with county

An environmental impact report on behalf of a proposed division of a 20-acre property north of the town of Santa Ynez into 20 one-acre lots has been filed with the office of Santa Barbara County Environmental Coordinator Albert Reynolds.

Reynolds said the report in regard to the proposal by Cal Coastal Engineering Co. will be given a public hearing March 7 at 10 a.m. in the county planning commission hearing room in the county engineering building in Santa Barbara.

The proposed land division is on the east side of Calzada Ave., one half mile south of Baseline Ave. Zoning is 1-E-1 (one acre estate).

Three other north county matters for which negative environmental reports have been filed will be heard at public hearings Jan. 31 in the planning commission hearing room starting at 10 a.m.

These include a proposed land division of a 34.65 acre parcel into two parcels of 28.85 and 5.8 acres on land south of state Highway 246, about 550 feet west of Fifth Street, Solvang, and on application of Jeremy D. Hass to provide a cemetery adjacent to the church for members of the Capuchin Franciscans religious order in Santa Ynez Valley.

The present conditional use permit by the religious group does not provide for a cemetery. The property involved is some 2,000 feet north of the intersection of Baseline Avenue and View Drive.

Also up for hearing Jan. 31 is a report concerning L.E. Moniot's proposal to rezone a 1.55 acre parcel at the southwest corner of Sagunto Street and Meadowvale Road, Santa Ynez to C-3 (general commercial).

Sewage treatment questions delay action on Insignis plan

New questions raised about details of sewage treatment facilities proposed for the Insignis, Inc. projected 175-unit residential-recreational community near Solvang, has led the Santa Barbara County Planning Commission to delay action on a revised development plan for 105 units and recreational features and tentative maps including plans for 70 five-acre agricultural-residential lots.

Insignis, based in Santa Barbara, was requested to have its representatives confer with county environmental coordinator Albert Reynolds, county health authorities and Solvang Municipal Improvement District officials so that a further report can be made to the commission at its Jan. 30 meeting in Santa Barbara.

The sewage treatment facilities proposed would be located upstream from SMID water supply on the Santa Ynez River. County officials said that the developers have not yet furnished full information in the environmental impact report about sewage facilities.

County supervisors sitting as the county Environmental Quality Advisory Agency had approved the environmental impact report submitted by the developers Dec. 26, 1972. But since then SMID and Santa Ynez River Water Conservation District Improvement District No. 1 has raised questions about the sewage treatment facilities planned. The project was redesigned and revised last year after a referendum move led by the Santa Ynez Valley Citizens for the General Plan. This had followed zoning approval by the supervisors.

Fault areas to be included in comprehensive plans

By DICK PRAUL
County Reporter

Santa Barbara County authorities say that major fault areas are to be delineated in geologic maps of the four major county areas for inclusion into the county comprehensive plan now in the process of study prior to revision.

Public works officials confirmed that both active and inactive fault areas will be included in the new seismic element of the comprehensive plan now entrusted to the San Francisco consultant firm of Livingston and Blaney.

Moore and Taber, soils engineers and geologists, of Woodland Hills, has been awarded the sub-contract to do the seismic element. It is slated for completion by May 1.

The likelihood is seen that the seismic element, when completed, will be a safeguard on the part of the county as well as builders as to risks involved in building in foothill and mountain areas, and other regions where subsidence and heavy erosion are likely to be encountered.

The setting up of areas of geologic hazards will also mean further limitation to building activity in some areas, particularly on the South Coast where moratoriums and other restrictions have been imposed due to water supply, and in Santa Ynez, where a building moratorium has been authorized by county supervisors on the basis of present health hazards due to septic tank failures.

Wendell Nichols, supervising engineering geologist of the public works department, stated that delineation of the various areas will be also helpful in serving as a basis for designation of future open spaces where such areas cannot be built on.

Nichols said there will be a geologic map prepared of the entire county, and detailed geologic maps of the South Coast, Santa Ynez Valley, Lompoc and Santa Maria areas.

Darlene Brocksmith is honored

Boy Scout Council presents her with its highest award

The highest Boy Scout Council award was bestowed upon Darlene Brocksmith Saturday during the Mission Council Scouters recognition dinner at Earl Warren Showgrounds. For her outstanding work with Boy Scouts and the youth of Lompoc, she received the silver fawn award. She is the second local recipient of the silver fawn. Shirley Kowalik received the honor in 1972.

Hard work and recognition for service are no strangers to Mrs. Brocksmith. Her association with Scouting began at Offutt Air Force Base in 1964 when she and her husband Robert organized a Cub pack. This served 56 boys in the elementary school population of 126.

Moving to Seattle, Wash. in 1966, the family associated with Pack 140 and Darlene was on the district training staff, receiving her den mother key.

Del Rio district activities began for the Brocksmiths in 1967. She has served the district as den leader coach and Cub training committee chairman since arriving in the Lompoc area.

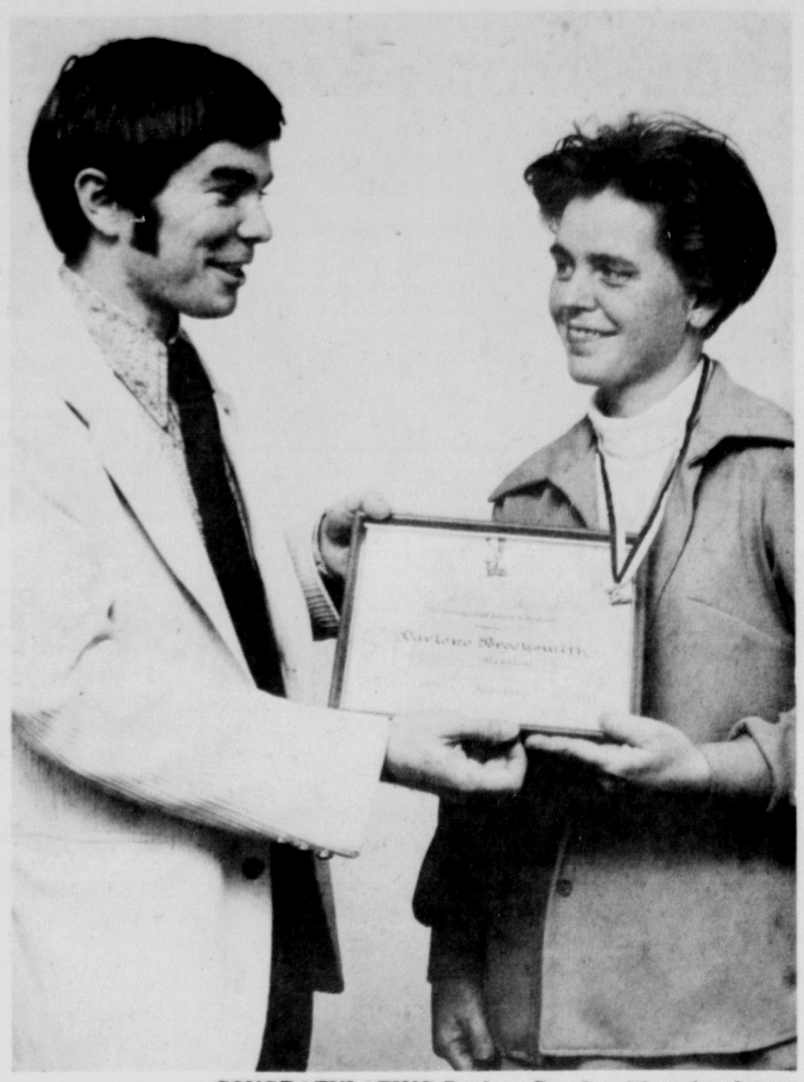

Her local awards include den leader coach in 1970; district award of merit, 1971; Scouter training award, 1972. She currently serves Packs 53, 56 and 62 as unit commissioner.

In addition to Boy Scouts, Mrs. Brocksmith has assisted Girl Scouts as Brownie committee chairman, junior committee chairman, Cadette committee member, and Brownie consultant.

Little League baseball, youth football, service as Civil Air Patrol testing officer and as a remedial reading aide at Lompoc Jr. High School are also activities, but still leave time for her to participate in league bowling.

The Brocksmith family lives at 1612 E. Cherry. Keith, 18, and Terry, 16 are Eagle Scouts. Roger, 10, has earned bear rank in Cub Scouts. Laurie, 14, is a Cadette Scout; Leslie, 12, a junior Girl Scout.

Mrs. Brocksmith's award, the silver fawn, is equivalent to the silver beaver awarded to men for outstanding Council work. Additional awards bestowed by the National Boy Scout Court of Honor include the silver antelope for outstanding regional service and the silver buffalo for national or world-wide exceptional service to the Boy Scouts of America.

CONGRATULATING Darlene Brocksmith on her latest achievement in Boy Scouts, the earning of her silver fawn pin and official certificate of appreciation, is Randy Ismay, Del Rio District chairman, Boy Scouts of America.

"Women Beware!" is film advice

"Why are sentences so short and criminal attackers released to roam the streets again?" asked a member of Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. "Personally I think they should be castrated and thrown in the river."

The spirited observation followed viewing of a film "Women Beware!" at the luncheon meeting Monday in Valley Club.

Presenting the program were Larry Wright, regional safety consultant for Automobile Club, and Ian Whitehead, manager of the local Automobile Club of Southern California. Present to conduct a question and answer period was Bud Trimble of the Lompoc Police Department.

Approximately 70 women exhibited their interest in the subject of personal safety. Representing Jr. Alpha Club was Ms. Susan Duey; Jaycee Wives, Brenda Seggerman; Housing Authority of Santa Barbara Co., Doris Bence, Rae Morehouse, Shirley Ring, Martha Aguilar, Diane Rowe, Harlene Porter and Noni Wornom. Coming from the local Auto Club office as spectators were Beryl Garbe, Elena Bliss, Ruth Ann Edwards and Linda Weil. Other guests included Alice Johnson, Aileen Froelich, Doris Florow, Mary J. Orona and Christina Bremner.

Actress Shirley Jones played the film's commentator role. "Remember the word safe" she advised. Each letter stands for an important factor in its meaning. They are the four things to protect oneself.

Secure yourself through awareness of your situation in the home, car, outside places, using precautions such as locks.

Avoid solitary places and dark areas and ask friends to see you to your car if necessary to travel alone. Look inside your car before entering. Be aware of persons loitering about.

Flee if followed or other circumstances seem to make you unsafe.

Engage an assailant in conversation or by defending yourself (nailfile, sharp-handled comb, the heel of one's shoe, hair spray, were suggested as effective weapons.)

Each area of personal safety was expanded with additional precautions and methods of dealing with an unwanted situation.

Reprints of a brochure prepared by the Los Angeles Police Department were distributed as a public service of Automobile Club. Titled "Lady, Beware," subtitle advised "If attacked—Scream! Resist! Fight!"

Announced by Ruth Clark, division president, was the substitution of a dinner-dance Feb. 14 for the usual luncheon meeting. The social event will be held at the Royal Coach, with social hours from 7-9 p.m. and dancing to follow. Nicki Leach will provide the music. Tickets are $5 each and reservations are necessary by Feb. 7. Benefiting will be the division's Community Center Fund.

Dear Abby

Even up the odds with a handicap

DEAR ABBY: A mother wrote in complaining because her husband would never let their eight-year-old son win at Monopoly or chess, and you agreed that the father was right.

Let's put the shoe on the other foot. Years ago, I used to play dominoes with my father, who was then getting on in years and not as sharp as he used to be. I could have beaten him every time if I had wanted to, but I often let him beat me. I can still recall the look of pleasure on his face when he'd win.

You said a child should learn to accept defeat with grace and good sportsmanship until he develops the skill to win fairly and squarely. But in the meantime, the boy is apt to think of his father as a merciless 'machine" that runs over him with all the grace of a bulldozer.

GOOD JUDGMENT (I HOPE)

DEAR JUDGMENT: Letting "Papa" win at dominoes isn't the same as letting Junior win. Children are not easily fooled, and it's more confidence shattering to suspect that Daddy is "letting" them win. But read on for a better solution.

DEAR ABBY: You missed the obvious answer to Mother, who thought Father should let their eight-year-old win once in a while.

Let Dad play with a handicap! Handicaps are used by pros and amateurs to even the odds in all kinds of games.

Sure, the son needs to learn how to accept defeat with grace, but losing all the time is no fun, and it only teaches discouragement.

I've been playing games with my seven-year-old son for years and we both play to win because I take a handicap. As his skill increases, my handicap decreases.

Accept defeat gracefully, Abby, and tell Dad to even up the game by using this suggestion.

DOUG KINDECHI:
SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

DEAR DOUG: You win! I sometimes need a greater handicap than I settle for. As in this instance.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old woman whose mother tells her she is "blockheaded and stubborn" because she refuses to try to make friends with a large dog that attacked her two years ago.

Being attacked by this dog was a traumatic experience for me. I can still remember the bleeding teeth marks on my wrist, and the large scar on my leg which took a year to heal.

My mother claims that this dog is friendly to anyone who isn't afraid of him, so I should pet him thru the fence to make friends with him, and act like I am not afraid of him. I claim that under the circumstances it is normal for me to be afraid, and even foolish to be otherwise.

This dog was trained as a watchdog. Am I being stubborn?

J.W.

DEAR J. W.: Yes. But intelligently so. They say, every dog is entitled to one bit. And that dog has had his.

Finch withdraws from race

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former presidential counselor Robert H. Finch, citing Watergate and personal reasons, has officially withdrawn from the Republican gubernatorial race.

Complaining that questions about Watergate had obscured campaign issues, Finch said, "If I had run for dogcatcher, every question I'd have had would have been on Watergate.

"I can't talk about the Middle East or health maintenance organizations without somebody asking about Rosemary Wood and the tapes," the former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare said.

Finch's departure from the contest narrowed the primary election to two candidates—Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke and state Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

Attorney General Evelle Younger, who had been considering making the race, is expected to announce Wednesday he will seek re-election.

Finch also said he would not run for the U.S. Senate or any elective office this year.

Finch, now a Los Angeles attorney, left the White House in December 1972 and has never been linked with Watergate. He was overwhelmingly elected lieutenant governor in 1966 but resigned to work in the Nixon administration.

State GOP chairman Gordon C. Luce said in a statement that with only two candidates in the gubernatorial race Republican chances of victory in the general election were "greatly enhanced."

He said the smaller number of contenders would avoid party conflict and dilution of campaign funds.

Finch told a newsman he expected more of his supporters to switch their allegiance to Flournoy than to Reinecke, a judgment in which Assembly Republican leader Robert Beverly of Manhattan Beach concurred.

Flournoy issued a statement declaring, "I fully understand Bob's decision not to enter the race for governor this year and hope that I can call upon his many friends and supporters for help."

Reinecke's office said Monday he would have no immediate comment.

Finch said he would not endorse a candidate prior to the primary but stated he would be active in GOP politics.

Finch said his decision not to run involved "personal and family reasons as well as my commitments to the practice of law."

He cited the "financial demands of having three college-age children."

Finch had delayed his decision about his candidacy for months. He indicated a lack of campaign funds did not play a major role in his decision.

The former lieutenant governor's decision also left two major GOP contenders seeking the nomination to run for the seat of Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston—state Sen. H. L. Richardson of Arcadia and Earl Brian, who resigned last week as health and welfare secretary under Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Braves, Conqs make changes

New guards in local lineups

The Lompoc Braves and the Cabrillo Conqs will both have a change in the starting back court tonight when the local clubs continue Northern League basketball action.

The Braves (1-1) will host the San Luis Obispo Tigers (1-1), while the Conqs (0-2) travel to Righetti to meet the Warriors (1-1). Both games start at 7:30 p.m.

Lompoc Coach Dave Ellison has promoted freshman guard Calvin Boler to the varsity for tonight's game. Calvin will start unless senior Marvin Henson makes a quick recovery from the flu. Boler is only 5-7, but has been averaging about 16 points per game for the 10-1 Braves frosh.

If Boler starts, the Braves will have the youngest first team in the league. Senior forward Rick Fridrich will be the old man of the group that will include 6-3 freshman Ed Taylor at forward, 6-3 sophomore Ken Humbert at center, and 5-10 sophomore Chuck Van Allen at the other guard.

San Luis is led by 6-6 junior center Norm Coy, 6-2 senior forward John Proud, and 6-0 senior guard Rusty Davies. Those three combined for 45 points as the Tigers nearly defeated Santa Maria last Friday, blowing a 6-point fourth-quarter lead.

The "new" face in the Cabrillo backcourt will be senior Otto Layman, who was a starter for the first game of the season, but has since seen little playing time. He'll open in place of sophomore Mandy Simmons, who has led the Conqs in scoring since his promotion to the varsity in the fourth game of the season.

"Otto was the only kid who played well yesterday in practice," said Conq Coach Harry Santos, explaining the change.

Kirk Dalton (5-10 junior) will start opposite Layman, 6-2 senior Calvin Carter will open at center, and up front will be 5-9 junior Darryl Stinnett and 6-1 senior Dan Ellertson.

The big guns for Righetti in league play have been 6-4 forward Dennis Galloway and 5-11 guard George Sampson, both averaging double figures.

HOWDY, FOLKS! Is that what Righetti's George Sampson is trying to tell us? Or is he merely hoping his friendly demeanor will distract Lompoc center Ken Humbert, going up for the shot! Though only a sophomore, Humbert wasn't fooled. He canned this shot and 7 others for a 16-point night, his best of the season by 12 points.

Aaron swings pen, hits $1 million

NEW YORK (UPI) — The pen is mightier than the bat.

Hank Aaron, the Atlanta Braves' outfielder chasing the home-run record of Babe Ruth, often has expressed the belief he has never received the publicity or endorsement opportunities commensurate with his brilliant career.

But, Aaron, with a slash of his pen Monday marked the ledger "paid in full" after announcing a $1 million, five-year promotional contract with the Magnavox Company, the richest ever offered an athlete.

Looking more like a millionaire businessman than the 39-year-old baseball player who has hit 713 home runs, Aaron appeared nattily dressed in a gray pin-stripe suit and silver tie at a news conference to announce his advent into the world of high finance.

In introducing Aaron to the news conference, the president of the Magnavox Consumer Electronics Co., Alfred di Scipio said, "Even if Hank had never hit a home run, he's the kind of man we would be proud to be associated with. Of course, if he had never hit a home run, the price would be a little different."

But Aaron has hit 713 home runs, the next one will tie Ruth's record and the following one will break the mark once thought unapproachable.

Aaron said in a soft voice, "I finally made it after 20 years. I finally got on top.

"In my 20 years of baseball, I've had opportunities to get associated with different companies, but for some reason things just didn't work out. Now that things are beginning to pay off for me, I'm very pleased."

Riggs vs. top milers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Move over, Muhammad Ali, Bobby Riggs wants back on center stage.

The irrepressible Riggs took time out from his new duties as resident tennis pro at the Tropicana Racquet Club Monday to start training for his even newer career as a distance runner.

Riggs, who will be 56 Feb. 25, has been booked as a special added attraction in a mile at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Feb. 8 featuring Kip Keino and Jim Ryun.

Accompanied by his trainer, Dr. Gordon Edwards, track coach at University of Nevada-Las Vegas, Riggs braved bone-chilling 30-mile-per hour winds in a workout that was pretty much confined to jogging in front of news cameras.

Stones, Pre bite the hand that bites them

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Distance man Steve Prefontaine and world high jump record setter Dwight Stones were honored as AAU athletes of the year Monday and then proceeded to blast that organization.

Roxanne Anderson, representing the Pacific Association of the AAU, presented the athletes, who thanked her for the "high honor" and said that the Northern California AAU should not be blamed for the sins of the parent body.

Stones cited what he said were broken promises, lack of consideration for athletes, high pressure methods and other abuses.

"I thought when Ollan Cassell was named AAU Executive Director, things would get better. After all, he's an athlete and he knew all the problems. Instead, he gave us a bigger rooking than any of the others," said Stones, who holds the world high jump mark of 76 5/8.

He and Prefontaine were here to drum up interest for the Examiner All-America indoor meet at the Cow Palace Feb. 1.

Prefontaine, America's top man at the 5000 meters, will drop down to the mile at the Cow Palace.

He was less bitter than Stones but commented "I don't plan to run in any AAU championships."

"My first experience with them was when I was just a kid, a senior in high school and they scheduled the championship meet in Miami in the middle of summer," he recalled. "It was 95 degrees and humidity about 90 and the surface (artificial) was about 190 degrees.

"Some of the athletes literally ran the soles of their feet off, and the heat and friction mangled my toenail, which I still have. Every time I look at the nail, I think of the Miami meet."

Profontaine said the AAU should hold more training camps and encourage employers to give their jobs back after they've competed for their country.

Irish saved old record

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)— The UCLA basketball team may have been within four games of the longest win streak in American sports history when they were upset by Notre Dame last Saturday.

Arthur O. Schott, Louisiana's official baseball historian, said Monday he could not be absolutely certain of his claims, but that he could find only one streak longer than the Bruins' 88-game reign.

"The Cincinnati Red Stockings, the first professional baseball team, went 92 straight games without losing," Schott said.

"I can't be authoritatively for all other sports, but I am confident about baseball. As far as any recorded instance, I don't know of any other sport where anybody came close. If there was, I'd like to hear abut it from someone."

Ali won't call KO round

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Muhammad Ali declined Monday to predict when his Jan. 28 fight with Joe Frazier will end, but vowed he will box his opponent "to death in the first round with my fast footwork and my fists."

Ali, who will do no sparring at his training camp here this week, said, "How long he (Frazier) goes, I don't know but he won't go long."

"If I say he goes in six and he goes in four, or if I say he goes in four and he goes in six, I'll look like a fool," Ali said.

Ali and Frazier will meet in a rematch of their March, 1971 fight in Madison Square Garden next Monday night.

Ali said he was in "the best shape of my life," adding that he hasn't felt better since the night in February, 1964 when he won the heavyweight title by stopping Sonny Liston.

The former champ did roadwork and worked out on the light bags Monday and will duplicate that routine today.

He will travel to New York Wednesday for the pre-fight physical.

WFL holds first draft

NEW YORK (UPI) — The World Football League fires the first shot today in the latest pro football war.

Naturally, the National Football League—which absorbed the best teams in the old All-America Conference in 1950 after a four-year struggle and agreed to a merger with the old American Football League in 1966 after a six-year war— appears unconcerned.

The 12 team WFL will hold the first six rounds of its first college player draft today, a week before the NFL holds its 17-round player draft.

Gary Davidson, the man who helped found the ABA and the WHA, says the clubs are willing to lose $1 million in each of their first two years.

'Bama, Purdue keep leads

United Press International

Alabama and Purdue held on to their conference leads Monday night but they had to do it the hard way.

Alabama, with Leon Douglas and Charles Cleveland leading the way, outscored Kentucky, 12-2, early in the second half to wipe out a five-point deficit and went on to win, 81-77. The victory, Alabama's 11th in 13 games, left the Crimson Tide tied with Vanderbilt for the Southeastern Conference lead at 5-1.

Douglas had 26 points and Cleveland 16 while Bob Guyette had 23 for Kentucky.

Purdue, trailing by nine points with three minutes left, stormed back to tie the game at the end of regulation time and then used a pair of free throws by Mike Steele with 1:37 left to defeat Michigan, 85-84. The triumph left Purdue 5-0 in the Big Ten and dropped Michigan out of first place.

John Garrett had 28 points to lead Purdue while Campy Russell, who fouled out after scoring 26 points, was high man for Michigan.

In other games Monday night, Vanderbilt, with Jeff Fosnes and Terry Compton combining for 39 points, beat Tennessee, 82-65, and Lloyd Batts had 24 points as Cincinnati hit a record 51 field goals en route to a 109-73 rout of Northeastern Illinois.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Former world bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares of Mexico City and transplanted Canadian Art Hafey have signed contracts to meet in a rematch at the Forum here Feb. 20.

Hafey, now of Los Angeles, knocked out Olivares at Monterrey, Mexico, last September. Olivares, 26, has halted 65 of 76 rivals while Hafey, originally from Nova Scotia, has a 32-2-1 record.

Rod and Gun

Try Cachuma in the p.m.

By M. C. Cockshott

Ocean fishing was a dead issue last week. Just when we were looking forward to a change in the weather, it got worse, and wind and rain kept nearly everybody home.

Gary Gowan, a co-partner in Habor Associates, who handle the launching facility at Port San Luis, informed us that he got together with the other fishing boat operators to guarantee gas for their customers to get home with should the gas shortage catch anyone stranded at the harbor after a days fishing.

As we made our weekly safari to the harbor, we noted that there was still quite a bit of oily debris in the vicinity of the launching dock, and along the beach. The heavy weather may disperse this, and all should be clear for the salmon opener on the Saturday nearest Feb. 15. So far very few salmon have been reported in the area, but then few fishermen have gone out to scout due to weather conditions!

It looked like there might have been some steelhead fishing in local streams. The water, which had been very roily due to the last storm, was beginning to clear up, then more rain. As we saw San Luis Creek, things did not look too promising. A few steelhead have been seen in the ocean off Arroyo Grande Creek, but here again the lagoon is too dirty to fish.

Fishing for steelhead is still unaltered, and is allowable on Saturdays, Sundays, Wednesdays and holidays, and opening and closing day. However, as we read the new rules, this may soon be changed to be in line with the new year-round trout and salmon season.

The sand bars are washed out from the creeks north of Cambria, and a few steelhead have been taken, again prior to the last storm. However, these waters are still far to roily for good fishing.

FRESHWATER FISHING

The creeks in Ventura County were due for a stocking, if conditions were favorable, but it is extremely doubtful if the planting tanks could get to some of the spots in this county.

Cachuma Lake was also due a planting, and Lopez Lake actually got about 7,000 fish. This latter water has been yielding some nice trout. Seems as though the afternoons and evenings were the best bet. We fished there one morning, with never a nibble, to find out that soon as we left several limits had been taken from noon on! Our "fishing pharmacist" friend Bill Endertof Arroyo Grande came in with a limit of 14-inch trout, all taken trolling in not-too-deep water. The fish are waiting to be caught by someone with trout know-how. This lake is now full, with water going over the spillway, and fishing should be excellent when the weather clears up. Some large crappie have been caught under the highway bridge. This is quite a walk, but apparently well worth the effort.

Looks like the Whale Rock deal has come to life again, and is on the agenda for the Fish and Game Commission meeting Feb. 8 at 8:30 a.m. in San Luis Obispo, in the Supervisors chambers. Representatives of local sportsmen and civic groups will be heard, mostly expressing their wish that the lake be opened for fishing without further ado.

OWL MURDER

A rare visitor, an arctic snowy owl, was "murdered" on the tidal flats north of Eureka. Many bird lovers had been watching this bird with great interest, and it had attracted many photographers from all round.

The bird had been shot soon after its arrival by two Eureka men. The scene of the "murder" was investigated by the DFG and resulted in the arrest of the pair. The killer was fined $500 plus a $125 penalty assessment. The other got off with a $65 fine and $15 penalty assessment. Apparently the killer got the maximum penalty under the law, and we would say got off too easily. Such characters should be made to really feel the punishment with a stiff jail sentence.

Avian cholera has made its annual visit to California in the Sacramento Valley. The initial outbreak in the Yolo Bypass near Sacramento has already killed about 5,000 pintail ducks and 300 swans. DFG officials say that re-flooding the bypass could help the situation. Avian cholera is a regular winter and early spring visitor to the state, and kills waterfowl from a few hundred to many thousand.

This disease can occur anywhere in the state where there are concentrations of waterfowl, and could continue until the birds migrate north. It does not affect human beings, but hunters are advised to take only birds that are flying, and to examine and discard any birds with white spots on the liver.

Braves swim relay team sets, loses CIF records

Records don't last long in the swimming world. Just ask the Lompoc High frosh-soph relay team of Mike Kowalik, Tom Denton, Tom Hicks and Bruce Walton.

The Braves swimmers broke a pair of CIF frosh-soph records at the CIF relays qualifying meet at East Los Angeles College Saturday, but didn't even bring home a first place.

In the 4 x 100-yard individual medley relay, the Braves broke the CIF record with a 4:07.5, but lost the record to another team in the next heat. Lompoc qualified third.

In the 4 x 100-yard freestyle relay, the Braves set another CIF record of 3:33.6, but four other teams also swam under the old record and Lompoc qualified fourth.

In the 4 x 50-yard butterfly relay, the Braves qualified third in 1:49.3.

The Lompoc quartet will swim in all four frosh-soph events Friday night in the meet finals at East L.A.

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — Oddsmaker Jimmy "the Greek" Snyder Monday installed UCLA as a 14-point favorite to win its basketball rematch with Notre Dame at Pauley Pavilion Saturday night.

Knox honored

NEW YORK (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams coach Chuck Knox, who turned his team around from posting a 6-7-1 record to winning the NFC Western Division championship, was named Monday as the overwhelming choice as NFC Coach of The Year in the voting of the Pro Football Writers of America.

Knox, in his first year with Los Angeles, guided the Rams to a 12-2 record before losing to Dallas, 27-16, in the NFC playoffs.

Knox, 41, played college ball at Juniata (Pa.) College, then spent 10 years as an assistant with the New York Jets and Detroit Lions

Opel Manta
Lots of fun per mile, lots of miles per gallon

Manta combines a lot of Teutonic exuberance with a touch of German frugality. It has the ability to devour great sections of high speed Autobahn in a single outing, but its appetite for gasoline is remarkably small. That may help explain why Opel is the best selling car in Germany. For more reasons, come in and see a Manta for yourself.

AHC Cabrillo term set

Fifty-two eighteen week courses are being offered by Allan Hancock College at Cabrillo High School for the term which begins Feb. 4, Assistant Dean of the VAFB Division, Orville Howells, announced today. Registration will be at Cabrillo High School Jan. 26 from 8:30 a.m. to noon for the Lompoc classes. Students may also register on the first 10 days of the new term from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at Cabrillo.

Saturday courses are included in the Cabrillo schedule for the first time.

Courses include legal aspects of evidence and juvenile procedures in the administration of justice field; anthropology; art; astronomy; biology; business; chemistry; data processing; economics; electronics; English, finance; Spanish; geology; history; home economics; mathematics; music; philosophy; political science; psychology; real estate; sociology; speech and supervisory management.

The Saturday courses are in art history; environmental geology; nutrition; music appreciation and psychology.

The decision to offer the Saturday classes was made after more than half the students indicated interest in holding sessions on Saturday mornings, Howells noted.

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD

BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given complete, or definite information.

MAKE IT EASY for the reader-prospect to reach you. Always insert your telephone number or your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, give a preferred time to have prospects call you.

PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would like to know (about your offer). The answer you give will make a good Classified ad.

WANT ADS THAT FAIL to bring satisfaction do so, not through any lack of readership, but because they do not contain enough information to get prompt action.

THE GREATEST READER ATTENTION can be secured for your advertisement by ordering consecutive insertions. You can stop your ad when you get results and receive a refund for the unused days. There are also very special rates for those who are desirous of keeping their name or offer before the public every day.

A LOW BLOW

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A robber Monday woke Craig Sperling, 25, stole $7 from his wallet and then fired a bullet into the victim's waterbed, police reported.

County supervisors actions

The Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors passed on first reading Monday an ordinance reducing speeds along sections of Baseline Avenue Ballard, in the vicinity of the Little Red Schoolhouse there from present 55 miles an hour to 25 miles an hour and 40 miles an hour in two different sections.

Ballard residents the week before had requested lowering of the speed zones, which had been 65 miles per hour before state action cutting the maximum to 55 due to the energy crisis.

In other actions Monday, the board:

—Approved on second and final reading an ordinance to permit, under conditional use permit, the commercial raising of worms.

—Referred to the county Office of Environmental Quality support for a proposal to solve problems created by the non-returnable or throwaway beverage container.

—Made various appointments, including Mary K. Wright to the county Status of Women Commission; Tomas Castello and Malcolm Campbell to Second District General Plan Advisory Committee; various appointments to the Santa Ynez Valley and Goleta Valley General Plan Advisory Committee as publicized earlier; appointments comprising a 10-member study committee on hospitals headed by Supervisor Charles F. Catterlin, and appointments of Robert Fischer and W. R. Whittington to new terms on the Goleta Valley Mosquito Abatement Committee.

—Approved on second reading a zoning ordinance to permit kennels in the A-1, A-1-X and AG districts, subject to conditional use permits.

—Approved on second reading ordinance amendment to set up agricultural preserves on Nicholson-Long property in Garey area; Kittle property in Gaviota-Las Cruces area, and Felburg property in Sisquoc area.

—Appointed Soma Baldwin to County Board of Law Library Trustees and Timothy F. McMahon as board of supervisors representative to the library trustees.

Today we show the same North hand as yesterday and almost the same South hand. The difference in the South hand is that three of its high-card points are represented by the king of diamonds instead of the king of hearts.

South still opens one club and rebids one spade after North responds one diamond. Then North makes the splinter bid of three hearts. Two hearts would have been a forcing bid and shown hearts. The unnecessary jump was a splinter to show spade support and a singleton heart.

Now South knows that all his high cards will be hard at work. He might have started a series of complicated slam tries but this South preferred the direct method of using Blackwood. He jumps to the slam after North's five-diamond response showed one ace.

East won the heart lead and returned a trump. South won in his own hand; ruffed a heart in dummy; came to his hand with a club; ruffed his last heart; drew trumps and claimed the rest of the tricks since no matter how clubs and diamonds might break he had enough high cards to collect them.

For Wednesday, January 23, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's a good time to start a new enterprise or undertaking. Prospects look promising if you build now upon a firm foundation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Make this a month of achievement. Goals you consider important can be attained. Advancement in your work or career is likely.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll find you are able to grasp new ideas quickly. A desire for learning will be very strong. Study things to improve your lifestyle.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Situations where you share an interest look especially hopeful. Profit will result if you make the most of opportunities and luck.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be making an important new alliance. It will have far-reaching beneficial effects. All new contacts are worth exploring.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A project you'll become involved in offers an unusual payoff. Be sure to complete any work or service you now begin.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're entering a cycle where Lady Luck will treat you more fondly than usual. Help her along. Be extra-enterprising and productive.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Situations that affect your sense of security are progressing nicely. Joy will come to you through your family.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) I think you're going to be doing more traveling than usual this coming month. They won't be long trips but they'll be to your liking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Over the next several weeks you'll have opportunities that will benefit you materially if you take advantage of them. Be prudent. Save what you gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Initiative plus imagination can start you on a path of real promise if you put forth your best efforts beginning today. Forget the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is the period to finalize situations to where the end results benefit you. Free yourself of doubt regarding the outcome.

OPINIONS

The columns of the Lompoc Record are open to all expressions of opinion consistent with good taste and the laws.

The Record's aim is to present facts in its news columns and opinions in its editorial columns.

Problem remains

Hopes that something specific will be done about the hazardous conditions of the Miguelito Flood Control ditch appeared dimmer this week following a meeting of concerned residents last week.

The information imparted to the group that only approximately $5,000 remains in County funds for any type of fencing project was certainly not encouraging. It is a known fact from mountains of correspondence and personal negotiation that the federal government is not about to cough up with any additional funds now or in the near future to alleviate the problem. It appeared that the only hope rested with the County Flood Control District and they are financially short to do the job necessary.

City Councilman Sol Lefkowitz gave some strong assurances to the concerned parents that something would be done to cope with the hazards of the ditch. What the Council member has in mind, was not made clear. We will expect that the problem will be an agenda item soon for the City Council and perhaps then some reasons for the assurances by the Council member may be explained.

The problem is one of funding and from where the funds will come. At this point, few funds are available for even a piecemeal job of safety. We believe it is reasonable to expect that it will be some time before enough funds are accumulated from any single source to finish this job. Meanwhile, citizens must continue to pressure the government entities in order that this project never be forgotten.

Uses of Abe Fortas

One thing you have to say about Nixon's critics, they are a thoughtful lot. Mr. Abe Fortas, lately of the Supreme Court, is surely among the most conspicuous of those who have attempted to lighten Mr. Nixon's burden in life.

Mr. Fortas suggests that Congress should pass a law immunizing Mr. Nixon from any prosecution in the event that he resigns. The idea is: well, plea bargaining of a sort. But Mr. Nixon's position is that he is not guilty of any wrongdoing; in which case, what use to him would it be to be assured immunity against prosecution? Of course, Mr. Nixon could be bluffing, in which case immunity would be useful. But how useful?

There is the vexed question of state prosecution. Even if Mr. Fortas could draft a law that would protect ex-Presidents from prosecution for violation of state laws? It is not a federal body but a state body that is even now deliberating whether to permit Spiro Agnew to practice law in the State of Maryland.

Perhaps Mr. Fortas has it in mind to assert federal preemption in the matter. This comes easy to those Americans who assume a sort of hierarchical preeminence for the federal government. The Warren Court so argued in upsetting the anti-sedition laws in the several states. The Court waved in the general direction of Charleston v. Varnville (1950) and Rice v. Santa Fe (1947) which involved, however, conflicting federal and state laws on carrier's liability and on warehouse regulation.

It simply has not been established that Congress can preempt national concern over anything in the world it cares about by a mere act of will, even Fortas's will. Alexander Hamilton spoke about the issue in No. 32 of the Federalist: "(Since) the plan of the convention aims only at a partial union or consolidation, the state governments would clearly retain all the rights of sovereignty which they before had, and which were not, by that act, exclusively delegated to the United States. This exclusive delegation ... would only exist in three cases: where the Constitution in express terms granted an authority to the union, and in another, prohibited the States from exercising the like authority; and where it granted an authority to the union, to which a similar authority in the States would be absolutely and totally contradictory and repugnant."

But there is nothing absolutely and totally contradictory and repugnant in, for instance, California presecuting citizen Richard Nixon for alleged failure to pay state income taxes. And anyway, there has been a certain caution by Congress on this business of preempting states' rights. Thus when Congress recently decided to encourage a national speed limit of 55 miles per hour, it didn't just order the states to reduce their speed limits, it stipulated that any state that failed to reduce its speed limit would not receive federal highway money, or whatever.

Perhaps the Fortas Bill should read that any state prosecuting Richard Nixon, against the wishes of Congress, the United States Naval Base would be moved to Portland, Oregon? No doubt appropriate sanctions could be described to cover every state of the Union in which Richard Nixon or his agents operating in his behalf allegedly violated a state law.

And here is one that Abe Fortas forgot. Why not, since he is in search now of carrots in place of sticks, vote a reward? A reward to Richard Nixon, if he will resign the Presidency, of, say a hundred million dollars? That isn't much money, by Democratic standards: Hubert Humphrey's speeches on the floor spend at the rate, when last measured, of about one hundred million dollars per twenty minutes. Perhaps that would budge President Nixon? Of course, it ought to be tax free, though it might be advantageous for that refinement to be added as a rider after floor debate. Mr. Fortas will no doubt accept minor modifications for his proposals.

Independent steps

No one has, but if an 18 or 19-year-old asked me how to prepare to leave home for life's greatest adventures, I would say: by doing your own laundry at a laundromat. This act, in our modern society, is as much a rite of passage as birth, marriage or death.

Laundromats are found at the edge of the world. To survive them you must soon develop tolerance and self-reliance. Of course, you must go it alone, not depending on the care and guidance of others.

Handle the laundromat experience and you're well on your way to becoming your own man.

What one must tolerate are the universal and disagreeable trails of laundromats. I've patronized them for 10 years (since I left home), from California to army bases in Europe, and I've yet to be taken by pleasant surprise.

Except for brand new ones, laundromats generally remain under-maintained and over-used.

Lint and other debris are sometimes left inside an empty washing machine. Infrequently, cold dirty water waits at the bottom of a drum.

Several machines may be inoperative when people pack in on the weekends. There are never enough chairs to sit on.

Kind laundromat owners keep magazines around for customer's benefit. Only the issues are ripped, frayed, and two or three years old.

Laundromats adopt separate and unequal operating procedures, so each establishment is a different experience. For example, one laundromat offers free dryer use while another does not. But we all know nothing is really free.

Each laundromats' set of machines function differently. Put in soap before, during, or after the hot water fills the drum - depending on the machine. Deposit soap over the clothes, in the soap dispenser, or in the drums' bottom - depending on the machine.

Same for the bleach.

Bad days at laundromats are Saturdays and Sundays. Mama does the wash and her little son and daughter chase each other around, usually concentrating in the clothes table area.

If you're not a five-year resident of the neighborhood, you're a stranger. And the women enjoy watching how this man is going to wash his clothes. Will he separate the white and color clothes? No help volunteered on their part.

These may seem like trivial matters. But they are the types of matters that make up the road of life. Your only recourse is self-reliance.

Learn the ropes. Look inside a machine before using it. Take your time and read directions, although you may be the only person who has ever bothered.

Use the laundromat on the weekdays; it's less crowded.

Prevent losing sock mates by checking the machine's drum for articles that get stuck under the brim. Also, look between wide spaced machines after transferring a load to the dryer. People unknowingly drop clothes there.

Old torn magazines are depressing. Check out the bulletin board for diversion and interesting reading. Or, bring a book.

Now, when the conditions are particularly trying, go out for a cup of coffee after filling up the washing machine. During the drying phase, window shop.

I know it isn't easy to do your laundry at the laundromat, especially the first time. The surroundings are bleak, forlorn in stark light. The establishments are neither comfortable nor inviting.

But laundromats can be rewarding. Surmount them and you have added a degree of dimension to your character.

At the least, you get your clothes washed and dried, which is an important step to independence.

Multiple problems

The PTA meeting the other night on fencing for Miguelito Channel was a study in contrasts on the one hand and an illustration in frustration on the other.

Parents in the Miguelito School area met with city and county officials to discuss what many parents say is a hazard to small children. Miguelito Channel for those who don't know runs from O Street and Olive Avenue, west to V Street and thence north to the Santa Ynez River.

The channel is unfenced for the most part and sloped earthen sides have proved attractive to children of all ages. Now reports indicate bicyclists and more recently motorcyclists find the scene a challenging one.

There have been only a few injuries reported, but one parent summed up the thinking of most of those present when he said there would have to be a death before the hazard was eliminated. Naturally in the face of such feeling, government, the county flood control district and the City of Lompoc have to move swiftly to explore alternative solutions.

Everyone agrees with that statement, but there is another question that has received only the most cursory public attention. It came to the fore in comments by both Lompoc City Councilman Sol Lefkowitz and James Stubchaer, county flood control chief.

The long and short of it is that the federal government has been sitting on a recommendation for the improvement of the channel for the past decade. The channel would be deepened and widened and the earthen sides and bottom would be replaced with concrete.

In 1963 when the channel was about 10 or 11 years old, government engineers then were saying that changing hydrology had rendered the channel only partially effective.

Since that time (and even before) Max Wilson, president of the Lompoc Resource Conservation District (new name for the old Soil Conservation District) has been trying in conjunction with city and county support to get federal funding for the improvement.

The late Congressman Charles M. Teague worked on the question almost to the day of his death a month ago.

Both Lefkowitz, who is an engineer in private life, and Stubchaer who is a highly regarded engineer, talked about modifications to areas upstream from the debris basin at O Street and Olive Avenue. One got the impression that these modifications would take some of the pressure off the channel in the rain season.

The growth of Lompoc, the paving over of areas that once could absorb rainfall, has all aggravated the basic problem of too little channel for the maximum potential flood situation.

In the stormy floods of 1969, the flow of water from the foothills south of Lompoc were only a couple of feet from overflowing the earthen channel banks. What would happen if it did overflow is uncertain, but water would be unleased on inhabited areas. Depending on where it overflowed the damage would be greater or lesser.

It's a sober thought to contemplate the possibility of homes being flooded.

I believe that's what Lefkowitz meant when he said priorities would have to be set and the hazards of no fencing would have to be weighed against the other possible problems.

Most of the parents present at the meeting last week indicated they want fencing. How much can be done with the money available will have to be determined.

January 13, 1955

A call was issued today to all Lompoc amateur and commercial radio operators to be present at the Civil Defense control center, Veterans Memorial building, for instruction in the use of the new C. D. shortwave communications system.

The distant prospect of a dam and reservoir in the Salsipuedes area should not interfere with the State's plans for realigning and rebuilding the San Julian highway, the Board of Supervisors ruled this week.

City Attorney Carl Keppler has been advised that the Bureau of Reclamation is continuing negotiations with the State Division of Water Resources to obtain approval of the water rights.
